

Light The Way, Inc.

Honoring Lives. Saving Others.

About Us

Light the Way, Inc. was founded in memory of Ryan Britagna, Ian Duchemin, and Christopher Hallahan, who lost their lives in a 2024 boating accident near the Saybrook Point Breakwater. Their tragic passing ignited a powerful community movement for change. We are dedicated to promoting boating safety and preventing future tragedies by educating the public, advocating for improved navigational aids, and working with government agencies to make our waterways safer.

Our Mission

SAFER WATERS

To promote boating safety through education, advocacy, and community engagement while honoring the memory of Ryan Britagna, Ian Duchemin, and Christopher Hallahan.

What We Do

- Raise awareness about safe boating practices
- Provide educational resources and workshops for the public
- Advocate for improved navigation markers and lighting at hazardous locations
- Work with local and federal agencies to improve waterway safety
- Support legislative efforts, such as linking DUI offenses to boating licenses (BUI legislation)
